the port of the Wanderer was San Francisco, Cal. She made 11 voyages to the North Pacific and the Arctic Oceans all of one year duration. Her 13th voyage lasted four years under Capt. Porter. She sailed on March 15th 1894 and spent spent 4 winters frozen in off Herchell Island in the Arctic Ocean. She returned to San Francisco on Oct. 14,1898 with only seven whales. In 1900, she was placed in the merchant service but afterward she was returned to the whaling trade.

The Wanderer returned in 1917 from a four years voyage Capt Antone T. Edwards with a cargo of 6200 barrels of oil; the largest voyage to her credit and perhaps the largest in number in barrels of oil in the history of whaling.

In 1924, Captain Antone T. Edwards, skipper for about 10 years and heavy owner decided to fit her for a whaling voyage in spite of the decline in profits from the trade. She sailed on August 25th, 1924 on the voyage that fate had decreed to be her last. A hurricane drove her on the rocks at Cuttyhunk. Although the entire crew was saved, the vessel was a total loss. The stout hull remained wedged on the rocks until a second storm on Sept. 30th broke her up.

This was the last voyage of a square rigged whaler out of New Bedford, Mass. Her great mast still serves to fly the flag at Shipyard park at Mattapoisett Wharf.

EVERYTHING CHANGES BUT PEOPLE

The town of Mattapoisett would hardly be familiar to the people who celebrated the semi-centennial in 1907 who now have long passed away. They would recognise some of the the older homes but many changes have taken place through growth and natural causes. In reading the book prepared for the 50th Anniversary celebration, however, the old story about history repeating itself is striking.

The second paragraph of the book states that the exposition at Jamestown Va. and the laying of the cornerstone of the Cape Cod Pilgrim Monument were the big occassions that took place at the same time as the Mattapoisett celebration.

This year the exposition at Jamestown has been the big news in the south while the voyage of the Mayflower II has been on every front page in the United States. Here we are on the eve of our celebration and the events planned today would be familiar to every one of these 1907 citizens of the town. We hope, and have every reason to believe, that the coming celebration will be as much enjoyed as the 50 th and the 75 th Celebrations.

They made a prediction in this 1907 book that the next celebration would, or rather might, find airships sailing over the town and that the bottom of the bay might be explored by people on excursion submarines. So far as we know, this did not happen at the 75th Anniversary. This year at our 100th we will find a Pilgrim Shallop in the harbor and that would have been hard to forsee, you can be sure. So far as our events are concerned, we will have a parade, boat races, dances, band concerts, suppers, clambakes and the pageant. In other words, this same program could have taken place in 1907 or can take place in 2007. We are looking forward to it with great anticipation.

If you have not picked up your Souvenir Booklet yet, we recommend it to you. In addition to the entire program for the Centennial and the Pageant Program there are interesting stories. Some adventure, some humorous and some are history. All are well written by Mr. Charles S. Mendell who has spent many years collecting stories about the town and tells them so well. The story of the well "oiled" firefighters at the County House fire will give you a laugh that is worth the price of the book.

By the way, we have no financial interest in the sale of this book. This is an unsolicited testimonial because we think that you'll enjoy the booklet and will like to have it to keep.

BIBLE SCHOOL CONCLUDES WITH PROGRAM

A program and exhibition for parents and friends was held at the Mattapoisett Congregational Church vestry Friday night which concluded the two-week Daily Vacation Bible School.

The kindergarten department presented an original litany, "We Give Thanks for the Bible" and a song, "Our Church".

The Junior department presented a summary of early Bible history which included the spirituals, "We Are Climbing Jacob's Ladder", lasting memento to Bill Raymond, one of the original beach residents. Mr. Raymond, known as "Mr. Crescent Beach", was born in New Bedford, spent many years in Taunton where he worked at the Mason Machine Shop and Reed and Barton's, coming to Mattapoisett 41 years ago and operated a grocery store at Crescent Beach. He weathered three hurricanes, returning with a smile, and encouraged many other beach residents. He was born in 1876 and died in 1956.

Dr. C. Nason Burden, president of the Association, spoke of Mr. Raymond's kindly relations with beach residents. He was a friend to all and guarded beach property for the owners in their absence.

It is particularly fitting along with his permanent record of service, to this part of our town, that the man who erected the bowling alleys, now Raymond Hall, Mr. Charles Chase, another of the Crescent Beach firsts, be mentioned.

It was the custom in the old days to visit the alleys on a Saturday night to have fun and Raymond's store to refresh oneself with ice cream and soda.

The man responsible for the plaque, Mr. Victor Charman of Brooklyn, New York, a pattern maker by trade, with the assistance of friends in Brooklyn collected brass and bronze scrap until enough was accumulated to manufacture it, greatly reducing its cost to the association members.

A pot-luck supper preceded the dedication. Guests included two of Mr. Raymond's daughters, Mrs. Ruth Taylor and Miss Pauline Raymond, both of Mattapoisett. Another daughter, Mrs. William Merchant, of Southville and a son, Air Force Lieutenant-Colonel William H. Raymond, Jr. of Falls Church, Virginia
